

Harvest lot means a specifically identified quantity of marijuana that is cultivated utilizing the same growing practices, harvested within a 72-hour period at the same location and cured under uniform conditions.

Batch means a quantity of dried leaves and flowers from a harvest lot; or a quantity of cannabinoid concentrate or extract or medical cannabinoid product from a process lot

Process lot means any amount of:
a) Cannabinoid concentrate or extract of the same type and processed using the same extraction methods, standard operating procedures and batches from the same or a different harvest lot; or
b) Medical cannabinoid product of the same type and processed using the same ingredients, standard operating procedures and batches from the same or a different harvest lot or process lot of cannabinoid concentrate or extract as defined in (a).

